

Welcome to FOS Future Lab

Thousands of people will once again have the opportunity to experience the most cutting-edge and forward-thinking technologies from around the globe. After consecutive roaring successes (in some cases, literally), FOS Future Lab is returning for its third year at the Festival of Speed to put technology at the heart of the world's greatest celebration of motorsport.

FOS Future Lab is more than just a stage on which to tell your future story from, it is a stage on which people from all over the world will get to live it first-hand. Bring your ideas to life with interactive displays and hands-on demonstrations: let your product strut its technological stuff.

Directly showcasing everything from space exploration to jetpack aviation to various forms of robotics (yes, even cocktail-mixing mechanical arms), how you choose to make mouths gape, eyes goggle and heads shake in wonder is up to you. Samsung, DHL, Facebook and Roborace are among some of the leading technological pioneers to exhibit their latest products and to meet, inspire and engage with visitors of all ages. With so many outstanding ideas in one venue, you will find fascination is infectious.
